

ABOVE ALL CONTRACTING GROUP

"I am writing this letter to recommend Above All Contracting as an exceptional company to use if in need of a contractor. In July, 2009, we needed someone to install two sets of French doors in our home. Al Dyck from Above All Contracting came recommended by the supplier of our doors. I was pleasantly surprised when he called me right away, and was able to come see the job the very next day. Arriving on time the next morning, Al immediately made me feel comfortable with him. He was very professional, and he understood that the woman of the house is often the one who will be the decision maker while the work is being done. He took the time during that initial walk through to ask a lot of questions, make suggestions, and was honest that it would be impossible to know exactly what was behind the wall until it was gone. Within a few days, Al gave us a reasonable quote not only for the doors, but also for the exterior paint of our home, which we had discussed during the initial walk through.

It is always important to feel comfortable with the people that are in your home. When work started on the house, the crew of workers that were installing the doors was always very polite, and never too busy to tell me what was happening. They would also let me know when they would return to continue their work, and at the end of the day, they pulled out their vacuum to clean up after themselves. It is always nice to see a man vacuum.

We now have a beautifully painted home and our French doors have added beauty and value to our home, thanks to Above All Contracting. We would highly recommend them to our friends, and will definitely give them a call the next time we need work done on our home."
